10 One-Evening Bead Gifts

A free extra from Tiny Bead Studio

Each project here can be finished in one calm evening with a handful of beads and a few basic tools. Use them as gifts, as your first pieces to sell, or as a warm-up before the patterns in the main guide.

BEFORE YOU START

Gather: seed beads (6/0, 8/0 or 11/0), 0.7 mm clear stretch cord, head pins, ear wires, jump rings, small pliers, wire cutters, scissors, tape and a drop of jewelry glue (follow the label). Materials and prices vary, so check what you have first.

SAFETY AND CARE

Cut wire and cord away from your face, keep small beads away from young children and pets, and work in good light.

Project 1: Classic Stretch Bracelet

TIME
30 min

LEVEL
Beginner

YOU WILL NEED

- About 6 g of 6/0 or 8/0 seed beads (one or two colors)
- 0.7 mm clear stretch cord, about 10 in. (25 cm)
- Small scissors
- Jewelry glue (a tiny drop)
- Tape or a bead stopper

STEPS

1. Measure your wrist and add 1/2 in. (1.3 cm) for ease; that is your bead length.
2. Cut the cord 4 in. (10 cm) longer than that length and tape one end so beads cannot slide off.
3. String the beads in your pattern until the strand reaches your target length.
4. Remove the tape, bring both ends together and tie a surgeon's knot (right over left twice, then left over right twice). Pull firmly.
5. Add a tiny drop of jewelry glue to the knot, let it dry as the label directs, then hide the knot inside a bead.
6. Trim the tails close and gently stretch the bracelet a few times to check it holds.

TIP

Pre-stretch the cord by pulling it firmly a few times before stringing; it keeps the bracelet from loosening.

Similar handmade stretch bracelets are often listed around $10–$20 each (example only).

Project 2: Stacking Trio

TIME
60 min

LEVEL
Beginner

YOU WILL NEED

- Three colors of 8/0 seed beads (sage, cream, gold)
- 0.7 mm clear stretch cord, about 30 in. (76 cm) in total
- Scissors, tape, jewelry glue

STEPS

1. Choose one main color for each bracelet and one shared accent color so the trio looks like a set.
2. Make each bracelet with the Classic Stretch Bracelet steps; vary the length by about 1/4 in. (0.6 cm) so they sit nicely.
3. Add one accent bead every 8–10 beads on each bracelet for rhythm.
4. Lay the three together on a flat surface and check the colors in daylight.
5. Package them together with a small card.

> TIP
> Keep the same bead size across all three so they stack evenly.

Sets of three are often listed for about $25–$40 (example only).

Project 3: Simple Drop Earrings

TIME
25 min

LEVEL
Beginner

YOU WILL NEED

- 2 head pins, 2 in. (5 cm)
- About 20 seed beads and 2 larger accent beads
- 1 pair of ear wires
- Round-nose pliers, flat-nose pliers and wire cutters

STEPS

1. Slide a few seed beads, then an accent bead, then a few more onto a head pin.
2. Leave about 3/8 in. (1 cm) of wire above the last bead and bend it to a right angle with flat-nose pliers.
3. Trim to about 1/4 in. (6 mm) and make a loop with round-nose pliers by rolling the wire toward the bead.
4. Open the loop on an ear wire sideways (never outward), slide the loop on and close it.
5. Make the second earring the same way and compare the lengths.

> TIP
> Count beads on the first earring and write it down so the pair matches exactly.

Simple beaded earrings are often listed around $10–$18 (example only).

Project 4: Seed Bead Hoops

TIME
40 min

LEVEL
Easy

YOU WILL NEED

- 1 pair of earring hoops with an open end
- About 60 seed beads (11/0 or 8/0)
- Small flat-nose pliers

STEPS

1. Open the hoop end gently by tilting it sideways.
2. Thread seed beads onto the wire until the hoop is full, leaving the last 1/4 in. (6 mm) free.
3. Check that beads slide freely; if the hole is too tight, use a larger bead size.
4. Close the hoop, press the end into its catch and test that it clicks.
5. Repeat for the second hoop with the same bead order.

TIP
Use a small bead dish so beads do not roll away while you work.

Beaded hoops are often listed about $12–$22 (example only).

Project 5: Dainty Anklet

TIME
45 min

LEVEL
Easy

YOU WILL NEED

- Beading cord or 0.7 mm stretch cord, about 14 in. (35 cm)
- About 90 seed beads (8/0)
- Optional: clasp and 2 crimp beads

STEPS

1. Measure your ankle and add 1/2 in. (1.3 cm).
2. String beads in a repeating mini-pattern, for example 5 cream, 1 teal.
3. For a stretch version, tie a surgeon's knot, add a drop of glue and hide the knot in a bead.
4. For a clasp version, add a crimp bead and clasp on each end and squeeze the crimps with pliers.
5. Wear it for a minute and check that it is comfortable.

TIP
Choose a slightly looser fit than a bracelet so it moves freely.

Beaded anklets are often listed about $10–$18 (example only).

Project 6: Letter Bead Bracelet

TIME
30 min

LEVEL
Beginner

YOU WILL NEED

- Letter beads for a short word or initials
- Pastel seed beads as spacers
- 0.7 mm stretch cord, about 10 in. (25 cm)
- Scissors, glue, tape

STEPS

1. Plan the word and count the letter beads you need.
2. Tape one cord end, then string a few spacer beads.
3. Alternate letters and spacers so the word sits at the center of the bracelet.
4. Finish the strand with spacer beads to your target length.
5. Tie a surgeon's knot, add a drop of glue and hide the knot.

> TIP
> Check that all the letters face the same way before knotting.

Personalized bracelets are often listed about $12–$24 (example only).

Project 7: Dainty Bead Necklace

TIME
60 min

LEVEL
Easy

YOU WILL NEED

- Flexible beading wire, 20 in. (50 cm)
- About 150 seed beads (8/0) and a few accent beads
- 2 crimp beads and a clasp set
- Crimping or flat-nose pliers, wire cutters

STEPS

1. Decide on the necklace length (16 in. / 40 cm is a common starting point).
2. Slide a crimp bead and one half of the clasp onto the wire, loop the wire back through the crimp and squeeze it flat.
3. String the beads in your pattern until the strand reaches your length minus the clasp.
4. Add the second crimp bead and the other half of the clasp, loop back, and squeeze the crimp.
5. Trim the tail, tug gently to test, and wear it for a minute.

TIP
Leave 1/8 in. (3 mm) of slack before the final crimp so the necklace can drape.

Dainty beaded necklaces are often listed around $18–$32 (example only).

Project 8: Stretch Bead Ring

TIME
15 min

LEVEL
Beginner

YOU WILL NEED

- About 25 seed beads (8/0)
- 0.5–0.7 mm stretch cord, about 6 in. (15 cm)
- Scissors, glue

STEPS

1. Wrap the cord around your finger to estimate the size.
2. String beads until the strand fits comfortably around your finger with a little give.
3. Tie a surgeon's knot, add a drop of glue and hide the knot in a bead.
4. Trim the tails and let it dry completely before wearing.

TIP
Make a few sizes at once; it is faster than adjusting one ring.

Tiny stretch rings are often listed about $5–$10 each (example only).

Project 9: Bag Charm

TIME
30 min

LEVEL
Easy

YOU WILL NEED

- 1 lobster clasp and 1 jump ring
- Head pin or small beading wire
- About 40 seed beads and 3 accent beads
- Pliers and wire cutters

STEPS

1. String accent and seed beads onto a head pin in a color story you like.
2. Make a wrapped or simple loop at the top of the head pin.
3. Connect the loop to the jump ring and the jump ring to the lobster clasp.
4. Close the rings tightly and test the clasp.
5. Clip it to a bag zipper or key ring.

> TIP
> Keep the charm under 3 in. (7.5 cm) so it does not tangle.

Beaded bag charms are often listed around $8–$16 (example only).

Project 10: Matching Gift Set

TIME
90 min

LEVEL
Easy

YOU WILL NEED

- Beads for 1 bracelet and 1 pair of earrings in the same palette
- Stretch cord, head pins, ear wires
- Small kraft box, tissue paper, blank card

STEPS

1. Pick a three-color palette and make the bracelet from Project 1.
2. Make drop earrings from Project 3 using the same colors.
3. Place both in a small box on tissue paper.
4. Write a short note on the card and tuck it in.
5. Photograph the set in daylight for your listing or gift.

TIP
A set feels more valuable than single pieces and makes gifting easy.

Matching sets are often listed around $22–$38 (example only).
